News of South Richmond

South Richmond Bureau,
The Times-Dispatch,
1629 Hull Street,
Phone Madison 125.

Preparatory to widening Hull Street between the tracks of the Atlantic Coast Line Railroad and Twenty-second Street, workmen have for the past week been moving several small houses back from the strip of land acquired by the city. When these obstructions are removed the actual work of making this narrow neck of the street uniform in width with the balance on either end will begin. A ditch on the east side will be filled in to the street level, and the entire block repaved.

This improvement has been sought by both Southerners and Swansboro citizens since annexation. Until it was done the Virginia Railway and Power Company was unable to double track its line to the end of Hull Street. A shuttle service is in operation, and has proved very unsatisfactory to the patrons of the line. In addition to this feature of the situation, the narrowing of the street at that point always causes a congestion when the traffic becomes heavy. On several occasions serious accidents have been caused by cars and wagons colliding. The ditch on one side which has been guarded by a dummy railing has also caused many accidents.

Takes Case Under Adjudication.
No decision in the suit of the Southern Furniture Company was reached by Judge Ernest H. Wells yesterday in Hustings Court, Part II. The matter was taken under advisement, and the result will be made known in a few days. C. L. Page appeared for the plaintiff, while L. P. Pool represented the defendant.

To Hold Democratic Rally.
The September term of Hustings Court, Part II, will end this afternoon. The October term will begin Monday morning, at which time the docket will be set. Many important civil actions, including several large damage suits and a criminal indictment, will be heard. As no cases have been sent on from Police Court, Part II, the grand jury will not be summoned.

Must Support His Family.
G. W. Linton, charged by his wife with nonsupport, was yesterday ordered by Justice H. A. Maurice, of Police Court, Part II, to contribute $10 a week towards the maintenance of his family. He was required to furnish security in the sum of $250 for twelve months.

Robert Galina, colored, twenty-one years old, arrested yesterday on a warrant charging him with beating a small board boy, was found to be carrying a dangerous-looking razor. An additional charge of carrying concealed weapons was entered against him. He was held without bail for trial this morning.

In Southside Churches.
An interesting lecture was delivered last night in the Bainbridge Street Baptist Church for the benefit of the Philanthropic class by Dr. Douglas Freeman. Dr. Freeman took as his subject, "Old Virginia." He was assisted in entertaining the large congregation by Haddon S. Watkins, who rendered several tenor solos.

Special services will begin to-morrow evening and will continue for one week at the Stockton Street Baptist Church. Dr. Douglas Freeman will conduct the services, assisted by Rev. J. T. Haley, pastor of the church.

Personal Mention.
Messrs. S. E. Phillips, of Davis Council, No. 7; H. E. Wilson and A. L. Sampson, of Rocky Ridge Council, No. 24, J. O. U. A. M., who went to Staunton, Va., Monday to represent their council in the twenty-eighth annual session of the State Council of Virginia, which met on Tuesday and Wednesday. They have returned home and report one of the most successful years in the history of the order in this State.

Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Paul have returned from their wedding trip, and are now at the home of Mr. Paul's parents on Bainbridge Street.

Montague at Wytheville.
[Special to The Times-Dispatch.]
Wytheville, Va., October 18.—Former Governor A. J. Montague addressed the voters in Wytheville last evening under the auspices of the Wilson-Marshall-Ayers Club, and for one hour and three-quarters held his audience by a masterful presentation of the cause of Democracy and of the candidacy of Wilson and Marshall for President and Vice-President and R. A. Ayers for Congress from the Ninth District.

Amherst Merchant Assigns.
[Special to The Times-Dispatch.]
Amherst, Va., October 18.—A deed of assignment was yesterday admitted to record in the clerk's office here from L. B. Davies to O. L. Evans, trustee. This deed conveys all store furniture and fixtures, accounts and all other assets for the benefit of the creditors of Mr. Davies, many of whom are Lynchburg firms. The assets amount to about $4,000, and liabilities $4,500. Mr. Davies is one of the best known merchants in the county, and was one of the losers in the fire here last May.

RICHMOND DAY AT PETERSBURG FAIR

Mayor Ainslie and Other Officials View Splendid Exhibition.

RECORD-BREAKING CROWDS

Wilson-Marshall Club Considers Active Plans for Campaign.

Times-Dispatch Bureau,
5 Bollingbrook Street,
(Telephone 1485).
Petersburg, Va., October 18.
Mayor Ainslie and a number of the officials of Richmond came over to Petersburg to-day and spent some time on the fair grounds. Accompanying the Mayor was President Adams, of the Board of Aldermen; President Peters, of the Council; and a number of the members of each body. There were also in the party members of the Boards of Police and Fire Commissioners, City Engineer Bolling and others. The party was met and taken in charge as guests by Mayor George Cameron, Jr., and representatives of the city government, and in the afternoon were entertained at the Chesterfield Hotel.

On later cars came also Manager Warwick and officials of the State Fair Association, and a goodly number of citizens of Richmond.

This was Richmond Day at the fair, but Richmond was not nearly so largely represented as was Petersburg on Petersburg Day at the State Fair. Still, the courtesy of attendance by the official representatives of that city was appreciated.

The Petersburg Fair closed to-night. In points of attendance and merits of exhibits, the fair was a gratifying success. A great crowd was on the grounds last night, and the managers estimate that the attendance day and night was fully 30,000. The crowd was swelled by the presence of thousands of people from the counties. To-day the attendance was very materially reduced as compared with yesterday, though during the day and to-night between 10,000 and 15,000 people were on the grounds.

Fine County Exhibits.
The special exhibits by the counties of Amelia, Chesterfield, Dinwiddie and Prince George were large and very fine. They were noticeable features of the agricultural department. Each county had a splendid display of its products—grains, corn, hays, fruits, vegetables, etc.—and each was awarded first prize.

Richmond Exhibitors.
The Richmond exhibitors in the arts and crafts building were the Virginia-Carolina Chemical Company, the Franklin Sugar Refining Company and the Battle Axe Shoe Company. Each occupied a large booth, each made a splendid display of products, and each was awarded a blue ribbon.

Plans for Campaign.
The Wilson-Marshall Club organized last night, with R. P. Barham as president, met at noon to-day in the office of the Chamber of Commerce and discussed and mapped out plans for prompt and active campaign work. The officers are enthusiastic Democrats, and will do some good work in getting out the full vote for Wilson and Marshall in Petersburg, besides financially assisting in the campaign elsewhere.

Hustings Court in Session.
The Hustings Court began its October term yesterday. The criminal docket will not be taken up until Monday, and the civil docket will be called over to-morrow. There are not many cases of importance on either docket.

Horse and Buggy Recovered.
J. S. Ritchie, of Chesterfield County, visited the fair yesterday, leaving his horse and buggy tied to a post on the outside of the grounds. When he returned to the spot his team was gone. He thought to have been stolen. The matter was reported to the police and a search was made. The team was later recovered where it had been deserted by boys who had taken it for a ride.

Celebrated Eightieth Birthday.
James E. Caldwell, deputy commissioner of the revenue for many years, to-day celebrated his eightieth birthday. Mr. Caldwell looks many years younger than he is, attends to his duties daily, and bids fair to celebrate many more anniversaries.

General News Notes.
Joseph Broms, of this city, was awarded ten prizes on his exhibits of fowls at the Petersburg Fair.

Fifteen convicts, three of them white, were brought over to this city from the penitentiary this morning and taken up to Bristol to be placed at work on the roads in that section.

Four drivers in yesterday afternoon's races at the fair grounds were fined $10 each by the judges for not driving their horses to win.

The Love Letters of a Confederate General

In PICTORIAL REVIEW for November begins one of the greatest series of love letters ever written

These letters were written by a Confederate General to his future wife. Composed in the thick of the struggle, they will go down in history as the tenderest memory of the great war between the States. They touch our memories of the lost cause like a roseleaf on the graves where lie

"Under the sod and the dew waiting the Judgment Day Under the laurel the Blue under the willow the Gray."

The four years' struggle between North and South is over; the knightly hand that penned these letters is forever at rest. Yet, as you read the letters, you hear once more the thunder of artillery, the scream of shot and shell; you catch a glimpse of the great soldier's sweetheart wife in her desolate home. In these letters the Confederate General unlocked his heart.

"Even now," he wrote three days after Gettysburg, "I can hear them cheering as I give the order, 'Forward.' I can feel the thrill of their joyous voices all along the line. Oh how faithfully they kept their word—following me on—to their death. I can't write you a love letter today, my darling. . . . It seems sacrilegious almost to say I love you, with those hearts that are stilled to love. Your Soldier."

Who was this man—bravest of soldiers, most chivalrous of lovers?

Read the Letters in and you will know; but we are pledged not to tell you his name, for the noble woman who inspired his devotion is still living, and now after fifty years has permitted PICTORIAL REVIEW to give them to the world.

Northerner and Southerner alike will respond to the thrill of these letters—human documents of a kind never written before, never to be written again.

TUBERCULAR GERMS

flourish in the most unexpected places and quickly attack a body weakened from colds or general debility, but if the lungs are fortified with SCOTT'S EMULSION their progress can be prevented and often overcome. SCOTT'S EMULSION is used in tubercular camps because its highly concentrated nourishment builds strength and resistance faster than disease destroys. It assimilates without taxing digestion, and contains no alcohol. Absolutely nothing equals SCOTT'S EMULSION to strengthen the lungs and drive out colds and coughs.
